Introduction

Mission Statement

The Mississippi Department of Education (MDE) is dedicated to student success, including the improvement of student achievement in English Language Arts (ELA) and mathematics in order to produce citizens who are capable of making complex decisions, solving complex problems, and communicating fluently in a global society. The Mississippi College- and Career-Readiness Standards (MS CCRS) provide a consistent, clear understanding of what students are expected to know and be able to do by the end of each grade level or course. The standards are designed to be robust and relevant to the real world, reflecting the knowledge and skills that students need for success in college and careers and to compete in the global economy. The goal of the MDE is to provide educators with the training and resources to understand and implement the MS CCRS effectively.

Purpose

In efforts to facilitate implementation and promote understanding of the MS CCRS for ELA and mathematics, the W. K. Kellogg Foundation generously awarded the MDE a grant to secure a cadre of effective educators to develop the MS CCRS Exemplar Units for teachers. Specifically, a group of highly-effective Mississippi educators developed exemplar instructional units and lessons aligned to the MS CCRS for ELA and mathematics. The MS CCRS Exemplar Units address difficult-to-teach standards as determined by teachers and are designed to serve as exemplar models for instructional units, lessons, and resources. The MS CCRS Exemplar Units have been vetted through nationally renowned vendors to ensure exemplar quality.

Design Overview

The MS CCRS Exemplar Units for ELA and mathematics address grade-level specific standards for Pre-Kindergarten-8th grade, as well as for Algebra, English I, and English II. The overall unit plan is described in the first section of the ELA and math units. This section includes the unit title, a suggested time frame, the grade level MS CCRS addressed and assessed, a unit overview with essential questions and a summary of lesson tasks, and the culminating/performance task description and rubric.

Though the math and ELA overall unit plan designs are very similar, some design aspects differ in order to accommodate the respective requirements of each content area. For mathematics, the first section also provides a segment designated for the Standards for Mathematical Practices (SMPs) addressed in the unit. For ELA, the first section also includes a text set with links to texts (if in the public domain) and a fresh/cold-read task.

The second section of each unit includes lesson plans. Within the lesson plans, provided are lesson-specific MS CCRS, suggested time frames, learning targets, guiding questions, required resources and materials, vocabulary terms and instructional strategies, teacher directions, instructional supports for students, enrichment activities, student handouts, assessments (formative, summative, pre-, and self-), and additional resources to aid in the implementation of the lessons.

Implementation

The intention of the MS CCRS Exemplar Units for ELA and mathematics is to provide educators with resources to understand and implement the MS CCRS effectively. The implementation of the MS CCRS Exemplar Units for ELA and mathematics is voluntary. Additionally, the MDE will provide ongoing support for implementation of the MS CCRS Exemplar Units with initial regional trainings followed by site-specific support through our regional service delivery model. For regional and site-specific training, please contact the MDE Office of Professional Development.

Speaking and Listening Standards

Focus:

SL.3.1 Engage effectively in a range of collaborative discussions (one-on-one, in groups, and teacher-led) with diverse partners on grade 3 topics and texts, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly.

Language Standards

Focus:

L.3.4a Use sentence level context as a clue to the meaning of a word or phrase.

L.3.2c Use commas and quotation marks in dialogue.

Additional:

L.3.1 Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing (printing, cursive, or keyboarding) or speaking.

Text Set

Anchor Text

- The Art of Miss Chew by Patricia Polacco

Complementary Texts

Literary Texts

- My Rotten Red-Headed Older Brother by Patricia Polacco
- Thunder Cake by Patricia Polacco
- Babushka's Doll by Patricia Polacco

Fresh/Cold-Read Task

Text(s): “Lady and the Garden Hose” See Handout 0.1: Cold Read Performance Task Passage.

Questions and Writing Prompt:

1. What is the problem in the story?
2. How does Manuel react to the damage in the hose?
3. How does Manuel solve the problem?
4. Manuel thinks of a solution to help keep Lady away from Mr. Delgado’s hose using chairs turned upside down with the legs sticking out. What does this reveal about Manuel?

Standards Assessed: RL.3.3

Evidence of Mastery:

1. Lady likes to chew on the water hose and has put holes in it with her sharp teeth. Mr. Delgado cannot use the hose to water the garden because the water comes out of the holes Lady made instead of the spigot.
2. Manuel sees that Lady was the one who made the holes in the hose with her sharp teeth. Instead of getting mad, Manuel helps Mr. Delgado to fix the hose.
3. First, Manuel helps Mr. Delgado to patch the hose with rubber glue. Then, he turns two chairs on their sides with the legs sticking out and puts them around the hose to keep Lady from being able to get close to the hose and chew on it.
4. Manuel is very creative. Lady had pulled the hose down five times in a week and chewed on it, and Mr. Delgado never could come up with a way to keep her away from it. Manuel’s plan to use the chairs as a cage around the hose was creative and it kept Lady away from the hose.

Lesson Tasks

Lesson 1: Introduction of Character Traits

The students will learn about internal and external character traits using excerpts from The Art of Miss Chew. The teacher will model characterization through a graphic organizer. The teacher will also model how to determine the meaning of a word using context clues.

Lesson 2: Characterization Using Text-Based Evidence

The students will use sentence level context as a clue to determine the meaning of a word or phrase using The Art of Miss Chew. The students will describe characters in a story (e.g. their traits, motivations, or feelings) and cite evidence from texts assigned to their groups – My Rotten Red-Headed Older Brother, Babushka’s Doll, or Thunder Cake.

Lesson 3: Characterization Using Text-Based Evidence (Continued)

The students will use sentence level context as a clue to determine the meaning of a word or phrase. The students will describe characters in a story (e.g. their traits, motivations, or feelings) and cite evidence from the text. The students will answer questions about their assigned story – either My Rotten Red-Headed Older Brother, Babushka’s Doll, or Thunder Cake to demonstrate understanding of that story, referring explicitly to the text as the basis for the answers.

Lesson 4: Characterization – How It Contributes to the Sequence of Events

The students will use sentence level context as a clue to determine the meaning of a word or phrase. The students will describe characters in a story (e.g. their traits, motivations, or feelings) and cite evidence from the text. The students will understand how a character’s actions contribute to the sequence of events in a story in The Art of Miss Chew.

Lesson 5: Characterization – How it Contributes to the Sequence of Events (Continued)

The students will use sentence level context as a clue to determine the meaning of a word or phrase. The students will describe characters in a story (e.g. their traits, motivations, or feelings) and cite evidence from the text. The students will understand how a character’s actions contribute to the sequence of events in a story in The Art of Miss Chew.

Lesson 6: Review of Characterization

The students will respond to a writing prompt in which they describe characters in a story (e.g. their traits, motivations, or feelings) and explain how their actions contribute to the sequence of events. The students will learn how to use commas and quotation marks correctly.

Lesson 7: Using the Characterization Map for Writing

The students will respond to a writing prompt in which they describe characters in a story (e.g. their traits, motivations, or feelings) and explain how their actions contribute to the sequence of events. The students will learn how to use commas and quotation marks correctly.

Lesson 8: Using the Characterization Map for Writing (Continued)

The students will respond to a writing prompt in which they describe characters in a story (e.g. their traits, motivations, or feelings) and explain how their actions contribute to the sequence of events. The students will learn how to use commas and quotation marks correctly.

Lesson 9: Review of All Skills

The students will complete Part 1 of the Performance Task.

Lesson 10: Performance Task

The students will complete Part 2 of the Performance Task.

Performance/Culminating Task

Part 1

The students will read “My Brother’s Mess” and complete a Characters’ Contributions graphic organizer. See Handout 2.1: Characters’ Contribution Graphic Organizer and Handout 9.1: Cold Read Passage.

Part 2

The students will use the information from the Characters’ Contribution graphic organizer completed the day before and the R.A.C.E.S strategy learned in the unit to respond to a writing prompt.

Prompt: In “My Brother’s Mess,” the narrator is neat, creative, and helpful. These character traits are revealed by his thoughts, words, and actions throughout the text. Using examples and evidence from the passage, write an opinion piece to explain which one of these traits most contributes to the sequence of events in the story and how.

Standard(s) Assessed: RL.3.3, W 3.1

Lady and the Garden Hose

The Delgado family had a new puppy named Lady. She was a playful puppy. She especially liked playing with the garden hose. She loved to watch the hose wiggle like a snake when she chewed on it. One day Mr. Delgado saw Lady drag the garden hose across the yard. “Not again!” he said as he hung the hose on the hook that was on the side of the house.

It was the fifth time this week that Lady had taken the hose down from its hook. Mr. Delgado had tried to teach her not to do it. He pointed to the hose each time and said with a stern voice, “No, Lady! Don’t play with the hose!” It hadn’t helped.

The next day Mr. Delgado went outside to water his vegetable garden. Once again, he found the hose stretched across the yard. Lady playfully picked it up in her teeth when she saw him.

Manuel came outside. “Hi, Dad,” he said. “May I help water the garden?” Manuel picked up the hose, and Mr. Delgado turned on the water. Only a few drops of water fell on the plants. They saw water springing up from tiny holes all along the hose.

Manuel looked at Lady. “Your sharp teeth made those holes, Lady. You turned our hose into a fountain,” he said. Lady wagged her tail proudly. Manuel and his father took the hose to the garage. They used rubber glue to mend it. “I don’t know how to teach Lady to leave the hose alone,” said Mr. Delgado once they had repaired the hose. “Do you have any ideas?”

“I know what we can do,” said Manuel. He wrapped the hose around the hook again. Then he brought two chairs from the yard. He turned them on their sides and leaned them against the house. The chairs formed a cage around the hose.

Lady walked over to the hose. She stuck her paw between the chairs. She poked the chairs with her nose and cried. She tried and tried, but she couldn’t reach the hose. Manuel’s idea was working. “You’re probably unhappy about this,” Manuel said to his puppy, “but Dad and I don’t want to fix that hose every day!”

Students pick one internal and one external trait to record on a sticky note to add to skeletal figure.

Note: Display Handout 1.3: Context Clues Content Anchor Chart to be used as example character traits for the next two weeks.

Activity 3: Understanding Character Traits

Activity 3a: Modeling

Model fluency by reading the first eight pages of The Art of Miss Chew. After one reading to allow for fluency model and comprehension, re-read the first eight pages, stopping periodically to ask guiding questions that will help develop the character of Patricia, the narrator of the story.

1. Why was the narrator (Patricia) having stomachaches because of upcoming tests?
2. What do you think that means about her character?
3. Why do you think Patricia loved art?
4. How do you think getting into a special art class will change Patricia's view of school? Why? What evidence from the story supports your answer?

Due to the length of the text, stop reading after the first eight pages and continue reading the book in the next day's lesson.

Display Handout 1.5: Teacher Characterization Map and model how to complete it using the text. Remind students of the internal and external character traits previously discussed, explaining that students will read another Patricia Polacco book in small groups to identify character traits.

Activity 3b: Guided Practice

Put students in three different heterogeneous groups. Give each student a book. (See texts listed in lesson overview.) Rotate around the room assisting students as needed.

- ✓ While rotating, record notes about students' understandings and misunderstandings when checking to ensure these actions occur:

- Students work in groups to read certain pages from their assigned Patricia Polacco book. Because students are practicing applying the concept of character traits to their assigned text, they only need a short passage, not the complete text.
- Students work together to complete the characterization map. See Handout 1.1: Student Characterization Map.
- Students begin to complete the context clues graphic organizer- filling in unknown words from the text. See Handout 1.4: Context Clues Graphic Organizer.

For students who are EL, have disabilities, or perform/read well below the grade level:

- Partner low-oral language students with high students during Turn and Talk activities.
- Strategically choose the appropriate book level for each group for group work.
- Have lower students discuss with the teacher instead of writing, referring the student back to the anchor charts to scaffold their understanding during independent practice.

Extensions and/or a more advanced text for students who perform/read well above grade level:

- Early finishers can add more than one internal and external character trait.
- Strategically choose the appropriate book level for each group for group work.
- Higher students can create their own example of character traits during independent practice.

Reflection and Closing

- ✓ Give each student a sticky note. On the sticky note, instruct students to write a definition of context clues in their own words. Collect the sticky notes to check for understanding.

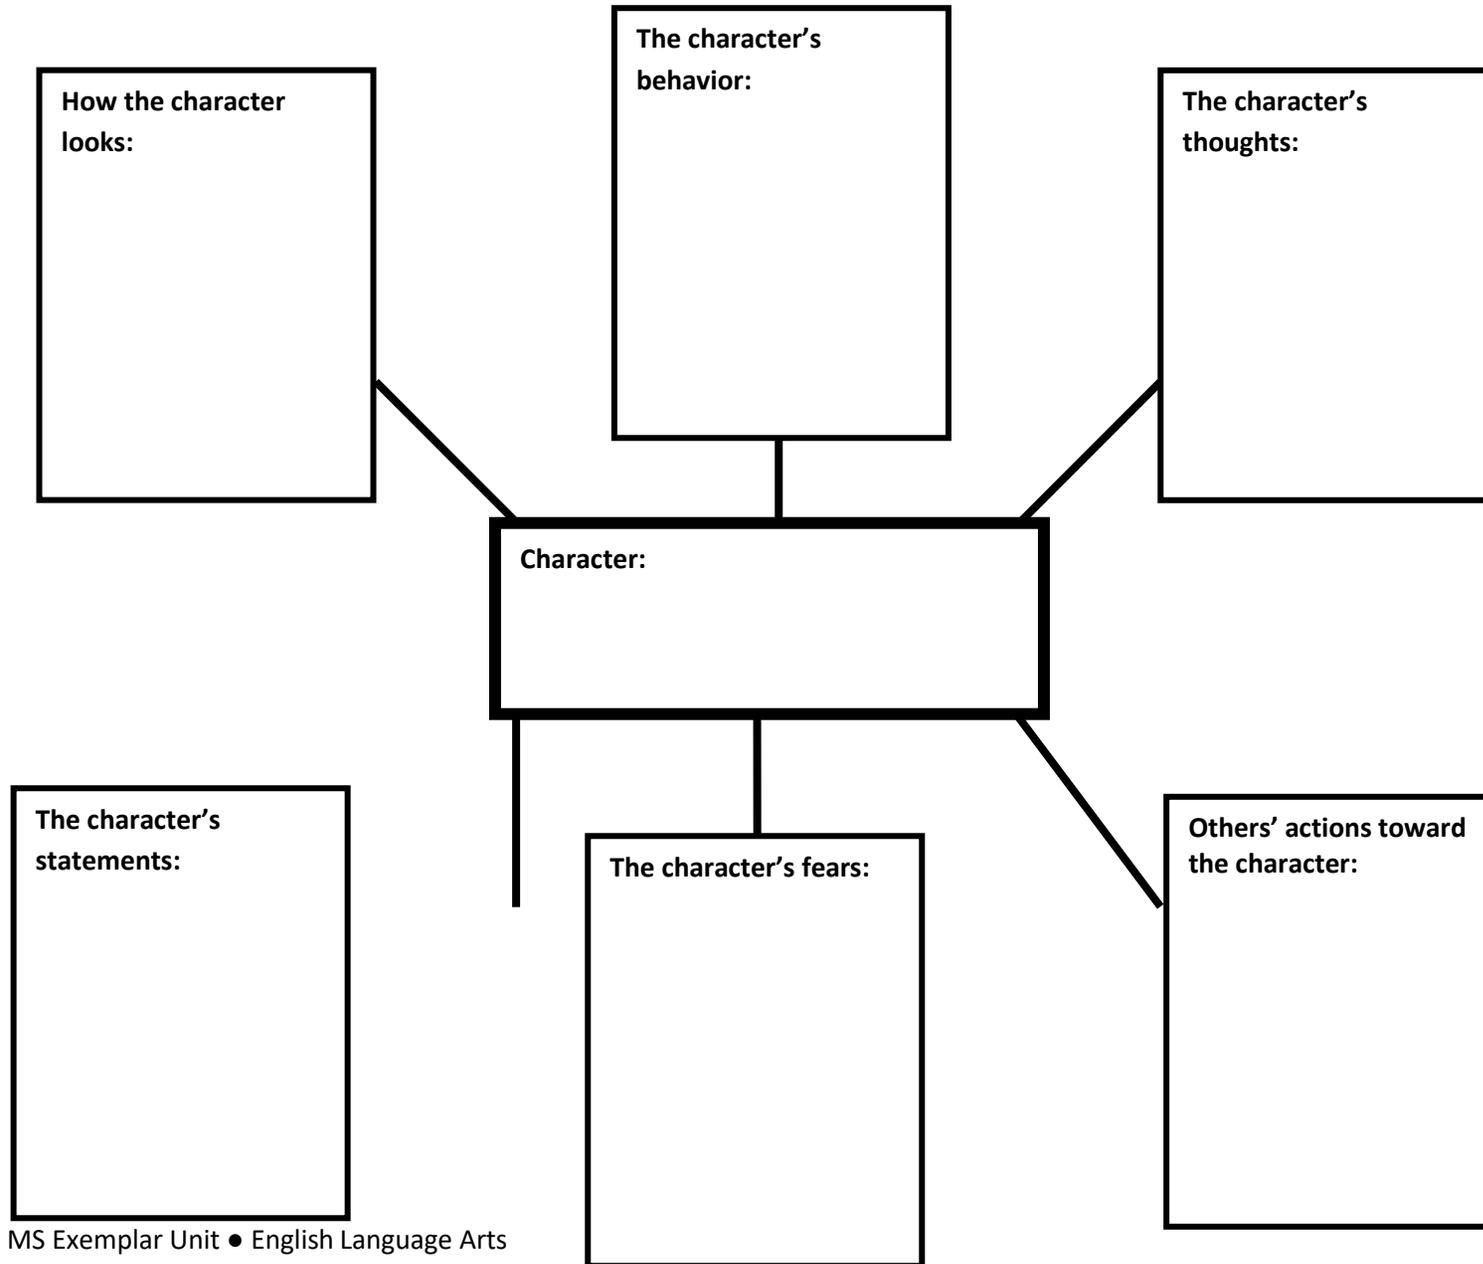

Review all graphic organizers and sticky notes as a formative assessment. Meet with the students who are not understanding the concepts before the lesson begins on Day 2.

Note: All lessons in this unit build on each other so understanding each component is key.

Homework

The students will write three examples of context clues from their independent reading book to share in class the next day.

Handout 1.1: Student Characterization Map

(Pg. 6)

Then one day Mr. Donovan saw one of my drawings. He picked it up and hung it on the bulletin board. “Patricia, you have remarkable talent!”

All of the kids in the class crowded up to look at the picture.

“Man, oh, man, can you draw,” Davey Mulford remarked.

“Wow!” Rick Schubbs agreed.

Even Neonne Price, who never spoke to me because she was so popular, was impressed.

I felt so proud.

Handout 1:6: List of MS Library Systems that carry the books required for this unit

The following table lists all of the library systems in Mississippi and indicates if the books needed for this unit are available through that library system. If a teacher does not have access to the books needed for this unit, this table can be used to find the nearest public library that carries the book. Go to the library system’s website online, click on the online card catalogue, and it will list the specific library where the book(s) can be found. This information was gained through the libraries’ online card catalogs in 2018.

Lesson 2: Characterization Using Text-Based Evidence

Focus Standard(s): RL.3.3, L.3.4a

Additional Standard(s): RL.3.1, SL.3.1, RF 3.4

Estimated Time: 60 minutes

Text(s):

- The Art of Miss Chew (pages 9-20)
- My Rotten Red-Headed Older Brother (Group 1 pages 9-17)
- Babushka's Doll (Group 2 pages 6-23)
- Thunder Cake (Group 3 pages 9-20)

Resources and Materials:

- Handout 1.2: An Excerpt from The Art of Miss Chew
- Handout 1.3: Context Clues Content Anchor Chart
- Handout 1.4: Context Clues Graphic Organizer
- Handout 2.1: Characters' Contributions Graphic Organizer
- Handout 2.2: Student Character Contributions Graphic Organizer
- Handout 2.3: Homework

Lesson Target(s):

- The students will use sentence level context as a clue to determine the meaning of a word or phrase.
- The students will describe characters in a story (e.g. their traits, motivations, or feelings) and cite evidence from the text.

Guiding Question(s):

- How do context clues help determine the meaning of unknown words?
- How do we use the text to determine a character's trait?

Vocabulary

Academic Vocabulary:

- Context clues
- Motivation
- Traits

Instructional Strategies for Academic Vocabulary:

- Introduce words with student-friendly definition and pictures
- Model how to use the words in writing/discussion
- Students create pictures/symbols to represent words
- Students write/discuss using the words

In-ConTEXT Vocabulary:

- Babushka
- Cart
- Impressed
- Jeered
- Naughty
- Remarked
- Selfish
- Tale

Strategies for Teaching How to Determine Meaning from Context Clues:

- Read short paragraphs or sentences using these words
- Model using context clue words in the text to identify the meaning of the unfamiliar word
- Create synonyms lists for the words based on the context clues

Direct Instruction Text Vocabulary:

- Ingredients
- Rattled
- Sultry
- Talent

Instructional Strategies for Direct Instruction Text Vocabulary:

- Introduce words with student-friendly definition and pictures
- Model how to use the words in writing/discussion
- Read and discuss the meaning of word in multiple contexts
- Students create pictures/symbols to represent words

	<input type="checkbox"/> Students act out the words or attach movements to the words
Symbol	Type of Text and Interpretation of Symbol
	Instructional support and/or extension suggestions for students who are EL, have disabilities, or perform/read well below the grade level and/or for students who and/or a more advanced text for students who perform/read well above grade level
✓	Assessment (Pre-assessment, Formative, Self, or Summative)
Instructional Plan
Understanding Lesson Purpose and Student Outcomes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• I can use context clues to determine the meaning of unfamiliar words in a text</li> <li>• I can describe characters in a story</li> <li>• I can provide support using a character’s actions, words, or thoughts to show their internal traits</li> </ul> Activity 1: Vocabulary Review the context clue content anchor chart from Lesson 1. See Handout 1.3: Context Clues Content Anchor Chart. Ask for a few students to share a context clue example from their homework assignment. Discuss student examples, making corrections as necessary, referring students back to the anchor chart. Activity 2: Introduction to the Lesson Summarize pages 1-8 of The Art of Miss Chew as a review and to support students’ comprehension for the upcoming lesson. Activity 3: Characterization Using Text Based Evidence Activity 3a: Modeling Continue reading pages 9-20 of The Art of Miss Chew, stopping to ask the following guiding questions: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Was Patricia excited to go to her new art class? What evidence from the text showed us that?</li> <li>2. How were Patricia’s pictures different than the rest of the class?</li> </ol>

Display the Characters' Contributions Graphic Organizer. See Handout 2.1: Characters' Contributions Graphic Organizer. Have students chorally reread The Art of Miss Chew excerpt from Lesson 1. See Handout 1.2: An Excerpt from *The Art of Miss Chew. Use the Think-Speak strategy to model how to determine a character trait and support it with evidence from the text and complete the first column only of the Handout 2.1: Characters' Contributions Graphic Organizer. Do this on a projected graphic organizer or on an anchor chart of the graphic organizer.

Activity 3b: Guided Practice

Have students return to the heterogeneous groups they worked with the day before to allow for peer tutoring. Give each group the book they read from the day before to continue reading. (See texts listed in lesson overview.) Rotate around the room assisting students as needed.

- ✓ While rotating, record notes about students' understanding and misunderstandings when checking to ensure these actions occur:
  - Students work in groups to read certain pages from their assigned Patricia Polacco book. This is a continuation from their reading the day before.
  - Students work together to complete the first column only of the characters' contributions graphic organizers. See Handout 2.2: Characters' Contributions Graphic Organizer.

For students who are EL, have disabilities, or perform/read well below the grade level:

- Partner low-oral language students with high students during Turn and Talk activities.
- Strategically choose the appropriate book level for each group for group work.
- Have lower students discuss with the teacher instead of writing, referring the student back to the anchor charts to scaffold their understanding during independent practice.

Extensions and/or a more advanced text for students who perform/read well above grade level:

- Early finishers can add more than one internal and external character trait.
- Strategically choose the appropriate book level for each group for group work.
- Higher students can create their own example of character traits during independent practice.

Reflection and Closing:

Call on groups to share their work and give corrective feedback and review misconceptions as needed. Pull struggling students one-on-one or into small groups during independent center time to review and reteach the concepts.

Note: This lesson has been shortened to 60 minutes to allow time for conducting independent centers planned by the teacher. All lessons in this unit build on each other, so understanding each component is key.

Homework

The student will complete a characterization map using text-based evidence graphic organizer using their independent reading book. See Handout 2.3: Homework.

Homework

Read an on-level text at home to a family member.

Handout 3.1: Characterization and Context Clue Questions Anchor Chart*The Art of Miss Chew

(pg. 28)

When she and Dr. McClare said that I see things differently than most students, Mrs. Spaulding scoffed, as if to say What could an art teacher know about how a child learns. I don't tell you how to teach a child to draw! It was as if she didn't think art teachers were real teachers, that maybe art wasn't even a real class.

Look at line one. In this line, what does the word "scoffed" mean?

- A.) Agreed
- B.) Made fun
- C.) Believed
- D.) Decided

What sentence from the story helped you determine the meaning of the word "scoffed"?

---

Based on the passage above what can the reader determine about Mrs. Spaulding's character?

- A.) She is a very loving teacher
- B.) She believes all students can learn
- C.) She thinks art class is a waste of time
- D.) She thinks art can be a helpful subject for students

Write the text based evidence below that supports your answer.

Handout 3.2: Characterization and Context Clue Questions Student Sheets*My Rotten Red-Headed Older Brother

(pg. 21)

That night I ran straight for the merry-go-round. We must have taken fifty turns on that carousel. But then my brother got off!

I stayed on. I went around and around. "I knew I could do this longer than you," I shouted to my brother, feeling proud but just a bit dizzy.

"Treesha," I heard my bubbie call out. "Get off from that thing.....It's time to go home!"

What does the word "turns" mean as it is used in line one?

- E.) To go around in circles
- F.) To go a different direction
- G.) To change
- H.) To wait for your chance

What word or words from the story helped you determine the meaning of the word "turns"?

Based on the passage above what can the reader determine about the narrator's character?

- E.) She loves carnivals.
- F.) She is very competitive with her older brother.
- G.) She loves to ride rides with her older brother.
- H.) The merry-go-round is her favorite ride.

Write the text-based evidence below that supports your answer.

---

---

Babushka's Doll

(pg. 25)

“My darling girl,” a voice called out. “Why are you crying, my precious child?” “Babushka,” sobbed Natasha. “Your little doll came to life and she was very naughty. All she wanted me to do was work. She never let me rest. She made me iron her dress and I don’t even know how. I’m just a little girl.”

“There, there,” Babushka said. “You must have had a bad dream.”

In line two is said that Natasha “sobbed”. What does the word sobbed mean?

- A.) To yell
- B.) To whisper
- C.) To cry
- D.) To call

What sentence from the story helped you determine the meaning of the word “sobbed”?

Based on the passage above what can the reader determine about the Natasha’s character?

- I.) She loves playing with dolls.
- J.) She is very helpful.
- K.) She is upset.
- L.) She loves her Babushka.

Write the text-based evidence below that supports your answer.

---

---

Thunder Cake

(pg. 8)

Her eyes surveyed the black clouds a way off in the distance. Then she strode into the kitchen. Her worn hands pulled a thick book from the shelf above the woodstove.

“Let’s find that recipe, child” she crowed as she lovingly fingered the grease-stained pages to a creased spot.

“Here it is...Thunder Cake!” She carefully penned the ingredients on a piece of notepaper. “Now let’s gather all the things we’ll need!” she exclaimed as she scurried toward the back door.

What does the word “penned” mean as it is used in line five?

- A.) To find
- B.) To talk about
- C.) To write down
- D.) To remember

What sentence from the story helped you determine the meaning of the word “penned”?

Based on the passage above what can the reader determine about the Babushka’s character?

- A.) She is a good cook.
- B.) She cooks Thunder Cake a lot.
- C.) She is scared on storms.
- D.) She loves her granddaughter.

Write the text-based evidence below that supports your answer.

---

---

Handout 3.3: Characterization and Context Clues Anchor Chart Formative Assessment*The Art of Miss Chew

(pg. 16)

I couldn't wait. I took my sketchbook everywhere with me. On the bus home, I drew people sitting in their seats. Even the bus driver. When I got home, I drew apples in a bowl, and my cat, Tillie. After dinner I made my mom and my brother Richie sit so I could draw them.

"Ain't you got no homework?" my brother groaned.

"This is homework," I said. "Sit a little longer. I almost have you."

What does the word "sit" mean as it is used in line two?

- A.) To relax
- B.) To pose
- C.) To take a seat
- D.) To place an object

What sentence from the story helped you determine the meaning of the word "sit"?

Based on the passage above, what can the reader determine about Patricia's character?

---

- A.) She is excited about the assignment.
- B.) She thinks drawing is fun.
- C.) She does not want to do her homework.
- D.) She does not have enough things to draw for Miss Chew.

Write the text based evidence below that supports your answer.

Lesson 4: Characterization: How it Contributes to the Sequence of Events

Focus Standard(s): RL.3.3, L.3.4a

Additional Standard(s): RL.3.1, SL.3.1

Estimated Time: 60 minutes

Text(s):

- The Art of Miss Chew (pages 11-20)
- My Rotten Red-Headed Older Brother (Group 1, pages 9-17)
- Babushka's Doll (Group 2, pages 6-23)
- Thunder Cake (Group 3, pages 9-20)

Resources and Materials:

- Handout 2.1: Characters' Contributions Graphic Organizer
- Handout 2.2: Student Character Contributions Graphic Organizer
- Handout 4.1: Types of Context Clues Anchor Chart
- Handout 4.2: Context Clue Sentences Practice Sheet
- Handout 4.3: Context Clues Homework

Lesson Target(s):

- The students will use sentence level context as a clue to determine the meaning of a word or phrase.
- The students will describe characters in a story (e.g. their traits, motivations, or feelings) and cite evidence from the text.
- The students will understand how a character's actions contribute to the sequence of events in a story.

Discuss the examples in each of the four types of context clues to model finding the definition based on the words around the targeted unfamiliar vocabulary word. Use highlighters to highlight key context clue words. Return students to the heterogeneous cooperative groups they have worked with throughout the unit. See Handout 4.2: Context Clues Sentences Practice Sheet. Activity 2: Introduction to the Lesson Provide several students with a card listing one of Patricia’s different character traits on them. Have the students with cards read the character trait aloud and allow other students to provide an example from the text to support the named character trait. Remind students that today they will continue to work on understanding how characterization contributes to the sequence of events in a story.

Activity 3: Characterization: How It Contributes to the Sequence of Events

Activity 3a: Modeling

Refer students to the previously completed characters' contributions graphic organizer. See Handout 2.1: Characters' Contributions Graphic Organizer. Remind students that each of Patricia's traits identified on the chart plays a part in how the story progresses. For example, if Patricia had not been a skilled artist, she would never have been sent to Miss Chew's art class. In turn, if she had never gone to Miss Chew's art class, she might not have ever gotten help from the reading specialist to whom she was introduced by Miss. Chew. Explain that the characterization's contribution to the sequence of events is like a cause and effect relationship, and that students should try to find the effect of the trait on the story's events. Using these examples, model how to complete the second column of the Handout 2.1: Characters' Contributions Graphic Organizer. Either project the graphic organizer as you model and think aloud or complete it on an anchor chart of the graphic organizer that you have created.

Activity 3b: Guided Practice

Return students to their same groups from Lesson One. Have them chorally reread the assigned pages from their group's focus text. After they have read, have students work together to discuss how their previously chosen traits impact the sequence of events and complete the last column of their characters' contributions graphic organizer. See Handout 2.2: Student Characters' Contributions Graphic Organizer. Rotate around the room to assist as needed.

- ✓ While rotating, record notes about students' understanding and misunderstandings when checking to ensure these actions occur:
  - Students work in groups to read certain pages from their assigned Patricia Polacco book. This is a rereading of the pages from the day prior.
  - Students work together to complete the characters' contributions graphic organizer.

For students who are EL, have disabilities, or perform/read well below the grade level:

- Partner low-oral language students with high students during Turn and Talk activities
- Strategically choose the appropriate book level for each group for group work.
- Have lower students discuss with the teacher instead of writing, referring the student back to the anchor charts to scaffold their understanding during independent practice.

Extensions and/or a more advanced text for students who perform/read well above grade level:

- Early finishers can add more than one internal and external character trait.
- Strategically choose the appropriate book level for each group for group work.
- Higher students can create their own example of character traits during independent practice.

Reflection and Closing:

Ask a representative from each group to share their work. Allow the class to discuss students' work to identify misconceptions and to provide the opportunity for positive corrective feedback. Review the context clue practice sheet to ensure understanding to complete homework and for the test on the next day.

Note: This lesson has been shortened to 60 minutes to allow time for conducting independent centers planned by the teacher. During independent center time, work one-on-one or in small groups with students who are still struggling with these concepts. All lessons in this unit build on each other, so understanding each component is key.

Homework

The student will complete a context clue practice sheet. See Handout 4.3: Context Clues Homework.

Handout 4.1: Types of Context Clues Anchor Chart

This worksheet is from www.teach-nology.com

Instructions: Read each sentence. Figure out the meaning of the word from clues in the sentences. Write the definition and what clues led you to figure it out.

1. Determination: Even when the wooden block tower fell over, the little girl showed great determination by picking up the pieces and trying again.

Handout 4.3: Context Clues Homework*WORD DETECTIVE

Context clues are hints that the author gives to help define a word you don't know. The clue may appear in the same sentence as the word you don't know or in a nearby sentence. This is a useful and important strategy because it helps you understand what you are reading, and it allows you to easily learn new vocabulary.

Types of context clues

Synonym: A word or group of words that has the same meaning as the unknown word can be found in the sentence.          Example: My little brother is gaunt – just so thin and bony!          Definition:	Antonym: A word or group of words that has the opposite meaning of the unknown word can be found in the sentence.          Example: Though some students are aloof, others pay attention to everything.          Definition:
Explanation: The unknown word is explained within the sentence.          Example: My friend was so forlorn when her dog died that she cried for a week.          Definition:	Example: Specific examples in the sentence help define the term.          Example: Commercial vehicles, such as trucks, buses, and taxis with paid drivers, can all be found on the road.          Definition:

Read each sentence. Underline the part of the sentence that helps you find the meaning, and then write a definition for the word in bold. Use context clues!

1. The man who used to be very lax with the rules now follows all the laws.

Definition:

2. The comestibles, including a huge pizza, a birthday cake, chocolate-covered peanuts, and tasty hot dogs, were all in the fridge before my birthday party.

Definition:

3. She was so erratic that she would be in a great mood one minute and crying the next. You never could predict the way she'd act.

Definition:

4. The brawl, or fight, on the playground got both kids sent to the principal.

- Handout 3.1: Characters' contributions anchor chart
- Handout 3.2: Character's contributions questions (anchor chart)
- Handout 5.1: Rock and Roll Vocabulary

Lesson Target(s):

- The students will use sentence level context as a clue to determine the meaning of a word or phrase.
- The students will describe characters in a story (e.g. their traits, motivations, or feelings) and cite evidence from the text.
- The students will understand how a character's actions contribute to the sequence of events in a story.

Guiding Question(s):

- How do context clues help determine the meaning of unknown words?
- How do we use the text to determine a character's trait?

Students take a vocabulary word then roll the dice to choose an activity. Activity 2: Introduction to the Lesson Provide a visual for characters’ contributions from previous lessons. Together, with the class, use Handout 3.2: Character’s Contributions Questions to review their character analysis from the previous lesson. Activity 3: Characterization: How It Contributes to the Sequence of Events Activity 3a: Modeling Refer students to the previously completed characters’ contributions graphic organizer. See Handout 2.1: Characters’ Contributions Graphic Organizer. Remind students that each of Patricia’s traits identified on the chart plays a part in how the story progresses. For example, if Patricia had not been a skilled artist, she would never have been sent to Miss Chew’s art class. In turn, if she had never gone to Miss Chew’s art class, she might not have ever gotten help from the reading specialist Miss Chew introduced her to. Explain that the characterization's contribution to the sequence of events is like a cause and effect relationship, and that students should try to find the effect of the trait on the story's events.

Activity 3b: Guided Practice

Return students to their same groups from Lesson One. Have them chorally reread the assigned pages from their group's focus text. They will choose another character to complete Handout 2.2: Student Character Contributions Graphic Organizer. After they have read, have students work together to discuss how their chosen traits impact the sequence of events and complete the last column of their characters' contributions graphic organizer. See Handout 2.2: Student Characters' Contributions Graphic Organizer. Rotate around the room to assist as needed.

- ✓ While rotating, record notes about students' understanding and misunderstandings when checking to ensure these actions occur:
  - Students work in groups to read certain pages from their assigned Patricia Polacco book. This is a rereading of the pages from the day prior.
  - Students work together to complete the characters' contributions graphic organizer.

For students who are EL, have disabilities, or perform/read well below the grade level:

- Partner low-oral language students with high students during turn-and-talk activities
- Strategically choose the appropriate book level for each group for group work.
- Have lower students discuss with the teacher instead of writing, referring the student back to the anchor charts to scaffold their understanding during independent practice.

Extensions and/or a more advanced text for students who perform/read well above grade level:

- Early finishers can add more than one internal and external character trait.
- Strategically choose the appropriate book level for each group for group work.
- Higher students can create their own example of character traits during independent practice.

Reflection and Closing:

- ✓ Have a reporter from each group share the groups work. The class will discuss correct and incorrect information. Take up the work from each group for a formative grade. Work one on one with the students who are still struggling with the concepts during independent center time.
- ✓ Exit Ticket: Provide students with sticky notes or note cards. Have them answer these questions on them and turn them in before leaving the lesson:
  1. What I worked on today?
  2. How was my work today?
  3. Was there anything I needed help with today?

Homework

No homework.

- Before the lesson choose 3-4 quotations from each of the Patricia Polacco books and rewrite them so that they are incorrectly punctuated. You can print these out or write them on individual marker boards or on post it notes. Students will work in their groups to edit and revise the quotations.

Lesson Target(s):

- The students will respond to a writing prompt in which they describe characters in a story (e.g. their traits, motivations, or feelings) and explain how their actions contribute to the sequence of events.
- The students will learn how to use commas and quotation marks correctly.

Guiding Question(s):

- How do characters' actions contribute to the sequence of events in a story?
- How can the use of dialogue and descriptions of actions, thoughts, and feelings help to show the response of characters to situations?
- How does a writer use quotation marks and commas correctly while writing?

chart. Students choose ten words from the chart they think best describes themselves. Provide students with a small Handout 1.5: Teacher Characterization Map for students to write or draw the character traits for themselves.

Note: This activity will be used later in the unit.

Activity 5: Anticipatory Set/Introduction to the Lesson: The students view a short video to introduce the R.A.C.E.S. strategy. Refer to Handout 6.1: R.A.C.E.S. Anchor Chart periodically during the video. Explain that this week the students will be learning how to take all the information they learned last week and use it to answer a writing prompt using the new strategy. Model and conduct a think aloud as you create a response to a prompt using the RACES strategy. You can create a prompt based on a book you have already read and all students are familiar with or you can create a prompt based on the anchor text, The Art of Miss Chew. Write your response as you conduct the think aloud on chart paper in front of the students.

Activity 6: Guided Practice

In the same groups from previous lessons, the students will use all the information they collected about their characters to respond to their prompt using the R.A.C.E.S. strategy.

Group 1: In the book, My Rotten Redheaded Older Brother, the narrator describes her brother as “awful”. How does this trait contribute to the sequence of events in the story?

Group 2: In the book, Babushka’s Doll, Natasha was a very impatient little girl. How does this trait contribute to the sequence of events in the story?

Group 3: In the beginning of the book, Thunder Cake, the narrator is hiding under her bed. What does this say about the narrator’s character and how does this trait contribute to the sequence of events in the story?

For students who are EL, have disabilities, or perform/read well below the grade level:

- Partner low-oral language students with high students during Turn and Talk activities.
- Strategically choose the appropriate book level for each group for group work.
- Have lower students discuss with the teacher instead of writing, referring the student back to the anchor charts to scaffold their understanding during independent practice.

Extensions and/or a more advanced text for students who perform/read well above grade level:

- Early finishers can add more than one internal and external character trait.
- Strategically choose the appropriate book level for each group for group work.
- Higher students can create their own example of character traits during independent practice.

Activity 7: Independent Practice

Students should use what they have learned about the R.A.C.E.S strategy and independently respond to this prompt: In the story The Art of Miss Chew, how do the traits and actions of Mr. Donovan help Patricia? Students write using the R.A.C.E.S strategy. Encourage students to brainstorm ideas before beginning to write if needed.

Note: Remind students of Handout 6.1: R.A.C.E.S. Anchor Chart

Reflection and Closing:

Write the following sentence on the board: We have a new student today she said.

- ✓ Instruct students to individually correct the sentences on a sticky note using commas and quotation marks. Collect each sticky as a formative assessment.

Review group work to decide what students will need extra modeling during Lesson 7.

Homework

Students will complete a quotation mark review provided by the teacher.

Instructional Plan

Understanding Lesson Purpose and Student Outcomes:

- I can use context clues to determine the meaning of unfamiliar words in a text
- I can describe characters in a story
- I can provide support using a character's actions, words, or thoughts to show their internal traits

Activity 1: Vocabulary

Play guess my word with students. Give clues about each vocabulary word from the unit. This activity can be done in a variety of ways. Get the students to number off from 1 to 10 in their notebooks and give clues about the word. The student then writes down what they believe the word is. Another method is to do the activity orally and let a student point to the word on the word wall. Be sure to discuss the word's meaning during this activity.

Activity 2: Anticipatory Set/Introduction to the Lesson

Review the R.A.C.E.S. strategy by asking the students questions about each part. Refer to Handout 6.1: R.A.C.E.S. Anchor Chart for students who may need a visual.

Activity 3a: Modeling

Begin modeling explicitly how to take each part of R.A.C.E.S. and begin writing a cohesive response. Focus on sections R and A and quotation marks. Use one of the ReadWorks Articles found in the resources/materials to assist in this modeling activity.

The writing prompt: Describe the character traits of a character you read about. Choose one character trait that most contributes to the way the character acted or responded in the passage. Write an opinion piece about that trait and how or why it most contributes to the way the character acted or responded in the text. Conduct a modeling/think aloud lesson in which you write on chart paper a response to this prompt focusing on just the R and A Sections of the R.A.C.E.S process.

Activity 3b: Guided Practice

The students return to their groups from the previous lesson and begin working on their writing piece and practice what the teacher has just modeled. Students will focus on the R and A section of R.A.C.E.S. process during their writing.

Note: Circulate to assist as needed with this activity.

For students who are EL, have disabilities, or perform/read well below the grade level:

- Partner low-oral language students with high students during Turn and Talk activities. Strategically choose the appropriate book level for each group for group work.
- Have lower students discuss with the teacher instead of writing, referring the student back to the anchor charts to scaffold their understanding during independent practice.

Extensions and/or a more advanced text for students who perform/read well above grade level:

- Early finishers can add more than one internal and external character trait.
- Strategically choose the appropriate book level for each group for group work.
- Higher students can create their own example of character traits during independent practice.

Reflection and Closing:

Review lesson and character traits with the class. Draw attention to the R.A.C.E.S. writing process.

- ✓ Take up the students writing to review before the performance task to ensure all students are progressing.

Homework

Student can read independently and make a list of character traits.

Activity 1: Vocabulary Play Read Like a Millionaire with the class. Divide the class into two teams. Using index cards prepared with the vocabulary words, give each student a chance to read or define a word (going back and forth from team to team). The student may use a lifeline and call a friend in the classroom to help them read the word.
Activity 2: Anticipatory Set/Introduction to the Lesson Review the R.A.C.E.S. strategy by asking the students questions about each part. Using a Random Name Generator, call on several students to share out their writing from the previous lesson. (You can use a random name generator online or you can use popsicle sticks with each student's name on one and draw them from a cup)

Activity 3a: Modeling

Using the same prompt from the previous lesson, finish modeling explicitly how to take each part of R.A.C.E.S. and begin writing a cohesive response. Focus on sections C, E, and S and quotation marks using the article from the previous lesson. Continue to write on the same chart paper from the previous lesson so the students can see how this is a continuous process and can take more than one day to complete.

Activity 3b: Guided Practice

Students will return to their groups from the previous lesson and begin working on their writing piece from the previous lesson. The writing piece should be completed during this lesson. Circulate to assist as needed.

Reflection and Closing:

Review the lesson. Call on several students to review the lesson to their class. Tell the class that soon they will be working on the performance task.

- ✓ Take up the students writing to review before the performance task to ensure all students are progressing.

Homework

The students will prepare for performance task by studying all material learned the last two weeks.

- The students will respond to a writing prompt in which they describe characters in a story (e.g. their traits, motivations, or feelings) and explain how their actions contribute to the sequence of events.
- The students will learn how to use commas and quotation marks correctly.

Guiding Question(s):

- How do characters' actions contribute to the sequence of events in a story?
- How can the use of dialogue and descriptions of actions, thoughts, and feelings help to show the response of characters to situations?
- How does a writer use quotation marks and commas correctly while writing?

	Instructional support and/or extension suggestions for students who are EL, have disabilities, or perform/read well below the grade level and/or for students who and/or a more advanced text for students who perform/read well above grade level
✓	Assessment (Pre-assessment, Formative, Self, or Summative)

Instructional Plan

Understanding Lesson Purpose and Student Outcomes:

- I can use context clues to determine the meaning of unfamiliar words in a text
- I can describe characters in a story
- I can provide support using a character's actions, words, or thoughts to show their internal traits

Activity 1: Vocabulary

Review academic vocabulary with students before the writing project begins. Use the academic vocabulary words to play Hot Potato word wall game. Put students in small groups. The leader of the group shares one thing learned about a word on the word wall, then toss the ball to someone in the group. That student shares something different, and so on.

Activity 2: Anticipatory Set/Introduction to the Lesson

Review the Handout 2.1: Characters' Contribution Anchor Chart, Handout 6.1: R.A.C.E.S. Anchor Chart, and the writing response modeled for the students the past two weeks. Discuss the expectations for the performance task and then explain that it will be completed in two parts:

Part 1

The students will read a cold passage and complete a Characters' Contributions chart.

Part 2

The students will use the information from the Handout 2.1: Characters' Contribution Graphic Organizer and Handout 6.1: R.A.C.E.S. Anchor Chart to respond to a writing prompt.

Rubric Review and Questions:

Review each part of the rubric with the students. Allow time to answer any questions the students may have about the performance task and/or the rubric.

Distribution of Supplies

The teacher and/or students will pass out Handout 9.1: Cold Reading Passage and Handout 2.1: Characters' Contributions Graphic Organizer.

Performance Task Part 1:

Students will read a cold passage and complete Handout 2.1: Characters' Contributions Graphic Organizer independently.

For students who are EL, have disabilities, or perform/read well below the grade level:

- Partner low-oral language students with high students during Turn and Talk activities.
- Strategically choose the appropriate book level for each group for group work.
- Have lower students discuss with the teacher instead of writing, referring the student back to the anchor charts to scaffold their understanding during independent practice.

Extensions and/or a more advanced text for students who perform/read well above grade level:

- Early finishers can add more than one internal and external character trait.
- Strategically choose the appropriate book level for each group for group work.
- Higher students can create their own example of character traits during independent practice.

Reflection and Closing:

Collect all students' work to redistribute tomorrow.

Have students complete an Exit Ticket where they answer these two questions on a sticky note or note card:

1) What did you enjoy most about the lesson today?

2) Was there a part of the lesson you may need help with in the future?

- ✓ Look through the students' work to make decisions on timing for Part 2.
- ✓ Review exit tickets before moving on tomorrow for students who may need extra assistance.

My Brother's Mess

My brother Tim and I each have our own room. My brother has always been very messy, and I've always been very neat. When I would change into my pajamas, I'd hang my clothes over my chair. Tim would throw his on the floor. By Saturday of each week, the floor of Tim's room would be covered with a huge pile of dirty clothes mixed with most of the pieces of a chess set, open books, and crumpled pieces of homework. That's when my mother would come in. She would take one look at his room and say, "Tim, you're not going anywhere until this room is fit for human habitation—no one would want to live here."

On Saturday afternoons, Tim and I like to play baseball with our friends. Tim always asked me to help him clean so he could get to the park in time for the game, and I'd usually end up helping him. Tim is the best pitcher on our team. If he didn't play, the other team might win. Tim would say thank you, but I'd get a little angry with him. I'd rather be outside on Saturday morning than indoors cleaning his room.

Two weeks ago, my friend Gretchen invited me over to her house on Saturday morning to see her new puppy. I warned Tim to start cleaning early that week, but it didn't help. On Saturday morning, his room was messier than ever. He had been looking for a game at the bottom of his old toy box, and his games and toys were all over the floor. I called Gretchen and said I couldn't come. Gretchen invited me again for the next Saturday.

On Monday, I made up my mind that I would not let my brother's disorderly habits interfere with my plans. I went to the supermarket after school and asked for three big cardboard boxes. The grocery manager gave me three boxes that paper towels had come in. I took the boxes and a black magic marker to my brother's room. On the first box, I wrote the word "clothes" in huge letters. On the second box, I wrote the words "books and games." On the third box, I wrote "trash." Then I set them against the wall.

The boxes took up a lot of space, but not as much space as the mess did. For a couple of days, I looked in on my brother after school. I'd point to any clothes or games on the floor and say "Throw it in the right box!" He then started to remember to do it on his own.

When Saturday came, we emptied the clothes from the first box into the laundry hamper. Then we put the books on the bookshelf and the games in the toy box. Finally, we emptied the trash box into the garbage can. Then Tim and I played with Gretchen's puppy until time for the baseball game.

Understanding Lesson Purpose and Student Outcomes:

- I can use context clues to determine the meaning of unfamiliar words in a text
- I can describe characters in a story
- I can provide support using a character's actions, words, or thoughts to show their internal traits

Activity 1: Vocabulary

Review academic vocabulary words with students. Play the Missing Word game. Create sentences with the academic vocabulary words missing. Students work in partners or groups to figure out the missing words.

Activity 2: Anticipatory Set/Introduction to the Lesson

Review Handout 2.1: Characters' Contribution chart, Handout 6.1: R.A.C.E.S. chart and the writing response modeled for the students the past two weeks. Discuss the expectations for the performance task and then explain that it will be completed in two parts:

The students will read a cold passage and complete a Characters' Contributions Graphic Organizer.

Part 2

The students will use the information from the Characters' Contribution chart and the R.A.C.E.S. chart to respond to a writing prompt.

Distribution of Supplies:

The teacher and/or students will redistribute the supplies from Part 1 and pass out the supplies needed for Part 2.

Performance Task Part 2:

Students complete Part 1 as needed. They use the R.A.C.E.S. strategy to respond to a writing prompt about the cold passage. Remind students to check that all components are in their writing and they have reviewed the rubric before turning their paper in today.

For students who are EL, have disabilities, or perform/read well below the grade level:
