Lesson Preparation

Essential Questions:
How is what you learn at school useful in a career?
Engagement (Hook):
Show a picture of a super hero. Why is this person a super hero in the cartoons? Today we are going to talk about heroes in our community, what makes each one great, and how they contribute to our school or community.

Procedures

Instructor Procedures/Instructional Strategies:	Student Involvement/Instructional Activities:
1. Showing the Career Path Mini Poster the counselor asks the students if they remember the six Career Paths that were introduced last year. Students are paired up and asked to list the names of the six Career Paths and then to describe each path using examples of job titles and/or the major function of each path. The Career Path Posters are introduced and posted on the wall at the front of the class (Health, Business, Helping, Nature, Fixing, Building and Technology and Creative).	1. Students work together to recall the names of the six career paths and their description. Partners share their ideas with the class.
2. Counselor asks the students: "What is a hero?" Counselor should emphasize that a hero helps to make things better. Counselor says, "Let's make a list of different types of community workers that would be considered heroes in our community." The counselor will write the list on the board.	2. Students contribute names of jobs in our community that would be considered local heroes (e.g. teachers, doctors, nurses, firefighters, police officers, etc.)
3. Group students in an even number of groups; and give each group two or three pictures from the Job Picture Activity Sheet. Three students in the group are selected to do the following group job: ● Leader – This person guides the discussion. The Leader should be a strong leader and not bossy. ● Recorder – This person takes notes for the group. The Recorder should be a good note taker to record the answers to the questions listed on the Career of a Community Hero Activity Sheet. ● Reporter – This person reports out information to the class. The reporter should be good at sharing information with a large group. Group members will consider personal strengths of each group member to select roles. Encourage students to volunteer for roles…and to "try out" roles in which they are interested and have not yet developed the skill.	3. Groups assign the roles of group members.

4. When students are finished answering the questions on the activity sheet for each picture/job, each group Reporter will share the pictures of their heroes, and explain why she or he is a hero. Ask, "What school subjects added to their greatness, and what's the person's contribution is to his/her school/community?"	4. Students discuss the four questions for each of their heroes in the pictures, coming to consensus on responses. A spokesperson (Reporter) for each group will present the group's information to the rest of the class.
5. Each group will select one picture as the group's favorite hero. Groups are then paired to compare and contrast the academic skills used by their heroes.	5. Reporters take notes for each group's discussion.
6. The Leader for each group will explain the comparison exercise.	6. Class listens as the Leaders for each group presents their comparisons.
7. In conclusion, ask each group to identify one important point they learned from this activity.	7. Previous Reporters for each group will share the group's new learning with the class.
