A crucial component of this guide is the 988 lifeline program, which offers 24/7 call, text, and chat access to trained crisis counselors. These counselors are available for anyone experiencing suicidal thoughts, substance use, mental health crisis, or any other kind of emotional distress. Additionally, anyone can call, text, or chat 988 if they are worried about a loved one who may need crisis support.

PURPOSE

“We are so grateful for everyone who works with us in the area of suicide prevention. Suicide is a difficult topic to discuss. It leaves such heartbreak in its wake that words often fail us when we are confronted with someone who has been affected by it. It’s so hard to accept that someone may be considering hurting themselves that we often don’t even want to consider asking that hard question – have you been thinking about suicide? That’s why this toolkit is so important. Everyone should know the warning signs and risk factors related to suicide, and know when and how to intervene with their friends, families, and loved ones. Help is out there, and right at your fingertips. Sometimes, all it takes to save a life is to make a phone call or ask a question. If you or someone you know is struggling, please don’t hesitate to reach out.”

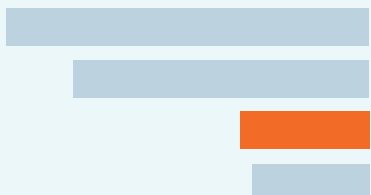

Wendy Bailey

Executive Director, Mississippi Department of Mental Health

DATA

Suicide is a critical public health issue that affects individuals, families, schools, and communities. Suicide is one of the leading causes of death in the United States. Preventing suicide requires everyone's commitment, from the individuals struggling with their own thoughts of suicide to the systems and communities that support them. It is important to bring suicide discussions and resources to the forefront to provide hope for those impacted, for hope is the lifeline that can save lives.

IN 2022, SUICIDE WAS THE 14TH LEADING CAUSE OF DEATH FOR ALL AGES AND THE 3RD LEADING CAUSE OF DEATH AMONG 15-24 YEAR OLDS.

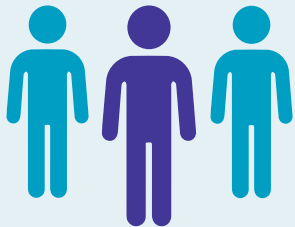

SUICIDE IS NOW THE THIRD LEADING CAUSE OF DEATH AMONG ADOLESCENTS AND YOUNG ADULTS AGES 10 TO 24 IN MISSISSIPPI. (SUICIDE PREVENTION RESOURCE CENTER)

In 2021, 65 Mississippians under the age of 25 died by suicide, which represents 14% of all deaths by suicide in the state. Of these:

- 72% FIREARMS
- 25% HANGING, STRANGULATION, AND SUFFOCATION
- OTHER

In Mississippi, overdose deaths rose 34%, increasing from 586 in 2020 to 788 in 2021. One out of every three overdose deaths in 2021 was among people younger than 35 years of age.

HOWEVER, PEOPLE WANT TO HELP.

94%
of adults in the U.S. see suicide as a preventable public health issue.

96%
would take action if someone close to them was thinking about suicide.

83%
would be interested in learning how they might be able to play a role in helping someone who may be suicidal.

These statistics can be daunting, however, there is hope. If you or someone you love is having thoughts of suicide or mental distress, call or text 988, or chat online at 988lifeline.org. Communications are confidential, and a trained counselor can connect you to resources.

Since the July 2022 launch, 988 has received and routed about 8.1 MILLION calls, chats, and texts. Data can be found at: www.samhsa.gov/find-help/988/performance-metrics.

PREVENTION

Suicide prevention is a collection of efforts to reduce factors that increase risk of suicide and increase factors that promote resilience. It requires a combination of efforts that work together to address different aspects of the problem for youth and young adults. Suicide is rarely caused by a single circumstance or event. Instead, a range of factors—at the individual, relationship, community, and societal levels—can increase risk. To help understand how to prevent suicide for students, it's important to look at warning signs, risk factors, and protective factors.

SUICIDE WARNING SIGNS

TALK

If a person talks about:

- Being a burden to others
- Feeling trapped
- Experiencing unbearable pain
- Having no reason to live
- Killing themselves

MOOD

People who are considering suicide often display one or more of the following moods:

- Depression
- Loss of interest
- Rage
- Irritability
- Humiliation
- Anxiety

BEHAVIOR

Specific behavior to look for include:

- Increased use of alcohol or drugs
- Looking for a way to kill themselves, such as:
 - Searching online for materials or means
 - Acting recklessly
 - Withdrawing from activities
- Isolating from family and friends
- Sleeping too much or too little
- Visiting or calling people to say goodbye
- Giving away prized possessions
- Aggression
- Dramatic change in mood

PROTECTIVE AND RISK FACTORS

Risk factors are situations or problems that can increase the possibility that a person will attempt suicide. Protective factors, similar to risk factors, are a range of factors that can protect people from suicide. We can take action in communities and as a society to support people and help protect them from suicidal thoughts and behavior.

CATEGORY	PROTECTIVE FACTORS	RISK FACTORS
Individual	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Reasons for living (e.g., family, friends, pets) • Effective coping & problem-solving skills • Strong cultural identity 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Previous suicide attempt • History of depression and other mental illnesses • Serious illness such as chronic pain • Criminal/legal problems • Job/financial problems or loss • Impulsive or aggressive tendencies • Substance use • Current or prior history of adverse childhood experiences • Sense of hopelessness • Violence victimization and/or perpetration

- Add 988 on student badges/IDs.
- Use the Preventing Suicide: A Toolkit for High Schools and or other resources to enhance prevention efforts at your school.

988: HOW IT WORKS!

SUICIDE
& CRISIS
LIFELINE

The 988 Lifeline responds 24/7 to CALLS, CHATS, OR TEXTS from anyone who needs support for suicidal, mental health, and/or substance use crisis, and connects those in need with trained crisis counselors. There are many reasons that people connect with the 988 Lifeline. Some examples in addition to thoughts of suicide are feeling overwhelmed with anxiety, sexual orientation worries, drinking too much, drug use, feeling depressed, mental and physical illness, loneliness, trauma, relationships, and economic worries.

CALLS

When someone calls 988, they first hear a greeting message. You are given choices of who to connect with in the greeting; the 988 Lifeline has specially trained counselors for Veterans (through the Veterans Crisis Line, operated by the Veteran's Administration), Spanish speakers and LGBTQI+ youth and young adults. Your call is then routed to one of the national networks or a local 988 Lifeline network crisis center based on your selections and then based on your phone's general location.

A trained crisis counselor answers the phone, listens to you, works to understand how your problem is affecting you, provides support, and shares resources, if needed. If your local crisis center is unable to take your call, you are automatically routed to a national backup crisis center. All these services are available in English and Spanish. The 988 Lifeline uses Language Line Solutions to provide translation to callers in more than 240

CHATS

Chat is available in both English and Spanish through the Lifeline's website at 988lifeline.org/chat and linea988.org/chat. People seeking chat services are provided with a pre-chat survey before connecting with a counselor, who identifies the main area of concern. If there is a wait to chat with a crisis counselor, a wait-time message will appear. If demand is high, people are encouraged to look at the 988 Lifeline's "helpful resources" while waiting. Once you are connected, a crisis counselor listens to you, works to understand how your problem is affecting you, provides support, and shares resources that may be helpful. Chat service is currently expanding so that an increasing number of chats are routing to local 988 Lifeline network crisis centers based on the information that you choose to supply in the pre-chat survey.

TEXTS

When someone texts 988, a trained counselor listens to you, works to understand how your problem is affecting you, provides support, and shares resources that may be helpful. Texting is available in both English and Spanish. By texting "pride" to 988, you will be directly connected with an LGBTQI+ trained counselor. Text service is currently expanding so that an increasing number of texts are routing to local 988 Lifeline network crisis centers based on a texter's area code. When texting 988 in Spanish, you will be asked to type "Ayuda" to connect with a Spanish-speaking counselor. Veterans and service members who text 988 will be redirected to text 838255 to reach the Veterans Crisis Line, which is managed by the Veterans Administration.

WHERE CAN I FIND 988 PROMOTIONAL MATERIALS?

The 988 Store simplifies the experience for our partners who order and use print materials. Partners can order multiple packages of our print materials from the 988 Store. If those amounts do not meet your needs, you can send an email to the Government Publishing Office 988 team at 988SAMHSA@gpo.gov.

MENTAL HEALTH IN MISSISSIPPI

MISSISSIPPI'S MENTAL HEALTH SERVICE DELIVERY SYSTEM IS COMPRISED OF THREE MAJOR COMPONENTS:

State-operated programs and community service programs

Regional community mental health centers

Other nonprofit/profit service agencies/organizations

As a district and school, build a relationship with the mental health resources near you.

Look for opportunities to partner on programming and information sharing.

Help students know that help is available and where they can find it.

COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH CENTERS (CMHCs)

A system of local Community Mental Health Centers provide sliding-scale community-based mental health outpatient and crisis services to Mississippians. “Community-based” means that, when appropriate, patients can receive services while still attending school or maintaining a job.

Mississippi is divided into regions, and every county in the state exists within a CMHC’s region.

You can find your CMHC region on dmh.ms.gov.

INTERVENTION AND CRISIS RESPONSE

Intervention and crisis response services are designed to interrupt and/or reduce the severity of a mental health, suicide, or substance use crisis. The goal of intervention and crisis response services is symptom reduction, stabilization, and restoration to a previous level of functioning. This can be provided in any setting, including schools. Intervention and crisis response practices for youth should aim to make every effort to help them stay in their current living environment, with family or other natural supports actively participating in the young person's care and stabilization.

A crisis continuum involves four core elements:
Someone to talk to, someone to respond, somewhere to go, and someone to follow up

CALL, TEXT, OR CHAT 988

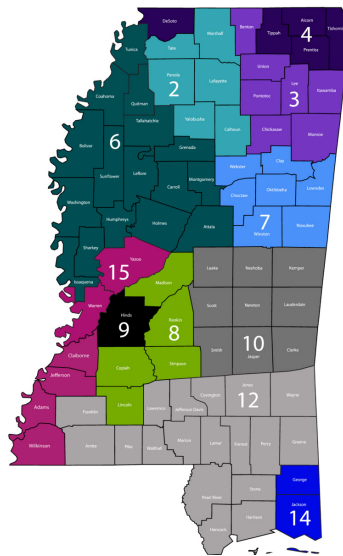

If you are thinking about suicide, are experiencing a mental health or substance use crisis, or are worried about a student, friend, or loved one, reach out to the 988 Suicide & Crisis Lifeline for free and confidential support by calling or texting 988, or chatting at 988lifeline.org/chat.

If you or someone you know is needing crisis assistance at school or in the community, you can access Mobile Crisis Response Teams by first contacting 988 and connecting with a crisis specialist. Mobile Crisis Response Teams provide guidance and support to adults and children who are experiencing a mental health crisis.

Teams are available in all 82 counties and can be assessed by calling the toll free numbers listed below or 988.

These teams work closely with law enforcement including officers trained as a part of the Certified Intervention Teams, CIT Trained officers. Officers who have received crisis intervention training respond to individuals experiencing a mental health crisis and divert them to an appropriate setting to provide treatment, ensuring individuals are not arrested and taken to jail due to the symptoms of their illness. CITs are a nationally-recognized best practice, and officers who have received CIT training have been recognized as having the understanding and skills needed to resolve crisis situations.

IMPROVING THE MENTAL HEALTH OF MISSISSIPPI'S CHILDREN & YOUTH MANUAL

As a result of legislation, the Mississippi Department of Mental Health and the Mississippi Department of Education, have developed Improving the Mental Health of Mississippi's Children as a resource to help school districts comply with three components of the legislation.

Those include:

The Mississippi Department of Mental Health (DMH) developed a standardized Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) to be utilized by DMH certified providers and mental health facilities in providing mental health services to local school districts. The MOU includes standardized screening and referral protocols, procedures, and forms to be utilized by the local school districts. DMH provided online training for appropriate school personnel to conduct initial behavioral health screening of students experiencing or exhibiting behavioral stress or at risk of harming themselves or others.

The Mississippi Department of Education (MDE) established three pilot sites in six school districts utilizing an evidence-based curriculum to provide students in K-5 with skills to manage stress and anxiety. The Mississippi Department of Mental Health was responsible for the development and/or selection of the content of the training. The results of the program are being measured and reported, and such results shall be used in consideration of statewide implementation.

The comprehensive local school district safety plans, required a refresher training on mental health and suicide prevention for all school employees and personnel. DMH was responsible for the development and/or selection of the training. Districts shall report completion of the training to the Mississippi Department of Education.

MISSISSIPPI DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Mental health is an important part of overall health and helps us grow, flourish, and build resilience. In order to foster a school climate and culture where students, and those who serve them, thrive, mental health must be prioritized.

It is the goal of the Mississippi Department of Education to support schools across the state in creating healthy learning environments. This page serves as a resource for improving mental health and well-being of stakeholders in the state.

POSTVENTION & STEPS FOR YOUR SCHOOL:

FORMING A SCHOOL CRISIS TEAM.

HAVING DEATH NOTIFICATION
TEMPLATES ON HAND.

IDENTIFYING AND ENGAGING WITH COMMUNITY
PARTNERS TO ASSIST WITH STUDENT NEEDS.

CREATING A PLAN FOR REFERRING
STUDENTS TO MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES.

How a school responds to a suicide can prevent suicide contagion.

Schools should be prepared to support the emotional needs of the students affected by the suicide by taking immediate action to respond as well as their long-term effects and risks that may be associated with the incident.

According to the national Survivors of Suicide Loss Task Force, postvention is an organized response in the aftermath of a suicide to accomplish any one or more of the following:

- To facilitate the healing of individuals from the grief and distress of suicide loss.
- To mitigate other negative effects of exposure to suicide.
- To prevent suicide among people who are at high risk after exposure to suicide.

Any death can have a profound effect on young people, especially the unexpected death of a peer. When someone dies by suicide, the impact can be profound for friends, family, loved ones, and others close to the individual. This impact can present as grief, guilt, and the concerning phenomenon known as suicide contagion, a relatively rare but real occurrence whereby one suicide death influences another. When the suicide survivor is a school-aged youth, these mental health impacts can be more difficult to overcome as children and youth have brains that are still developing, and they often have limited coping skills. Addressing the mental health needs of students following the death of a school peer by suicide reduces the incidence of suicide contagion and long-term mental health struggles.

In addition to the impact a suicide can have on the survivors, it can also leave schools faced with distressed parents and community members, media attention, and communication from others seeking information about what happened and why. In these instances, it is important that schools have an active model for postvention in place to be able to provide immediate support and necessary referrals to services in a timely manner. It is also crucial to have a pragmatic plan for communicating with the public on necessary information regarding the incident.

Protecting the health and well-being of students is of the utmost importance to schools. Well-implemented postvention protocols will enable school personnel to respond in the immediate aftermath of a suicide death of a student in an organized and effective manner. The most effective response to a school community suicide will be one in which steps are taken in advance to prepare.

AFTER A SUICIDE: A TOOLKIT FOR SCHOOLS

The American Foundation for Suicide Prevention developed this toolkit in consultation with national experts, including school-based administrators and staff, clinicians, researchers, and crisis response professionals.

After a Suicide: A Toolkit for Schools offers materials, templates, and step-by-step instructions all in one location. It is an essential tool for crisis teams and school administrators to design and execute suitable postvention activities to comfort bereaved staff and students, foster communication, identify at-risk individuals, and more.

While most suicide prevention programs in schools are focused on teens, suicide rates have been rising among younger students.

Elementary and middle schools can play a key role in prevention, say experts.

Best practice is to train all school staff in suicide prevention because students may not necessarily go to a teacher if they are struggling. The signs of suicide in that age group may appear as behavioral issues or physical complaints, so it is important that staff know what to look out for. More broadly, experts recommend all adults get more comfortable talking about suicide and mental health to help make it more comfortable for kids.

PROGRAMS FOR ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

Universal programming is recommended for elementary school settings as upstream prevention efforts include awareness and education that integrates Social Emotional Learning (SEL) into the curriculum and emphasizes strengthening protective factors and fostering connectedness with others.

MENTAL WELLBEING

SEL is a systemic framework that can be integrated across classrooms. SEL is the process through which young people acquire and apply the knowledge, skills, and attitudes to develop healthy identities, manage emotions and achieve personal and collective goals, feel and show empathy for others, establish and maintain supportive relationships, and make responsible and caring decisions.

RESOURCES FOR ALL AGES

AMERICAN FOUNDATION FOR SUICIDE PREVENTION (AFSP) MODEL POLICY

This policy is a national resource for schools that provides a plan for school districts to implement suicide prevention policies. This resource supplements information provided throughout the DESE Model Policy.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR REPORTING ON SUICIDE

Was developed by experts in suicide prevention based on more than 50 international studies on suicide contagion. Responsible reporting can reduce the risk of additional suicides.

YOUTH SUICIDE PREVENTION AND INTERVENTION, BEST PRACTICES & POLICY IMPLICATIONS

Provides a review of suicide prevention research and practices as it relates to youth suicide. It is formatted so that individuals could pick a topic and quickly understand what subject matter experts deem to be the most pressing issues with perspective on how to meaningfully advance youth suicide prevention efforts.

THE TREVOR PROJECT

Is a non-profit organization focused on suicide prevention efforts for lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, and questioning youth.

THE JED FOUNDATION

Is a nonprofit that protects emotional health and prevents suicide among teens and young adults. Their resource center offers tools for both individuals in crisis/emergency situations as well as those looking to support others.

PROGRAMS FOR HIGHER EDUCATION

Approximately 75% of all mental health conditions appear and are established by age 24, so colleges are uniquely situated to help these young people. Suicide prevention efforts for college students should focus on the unique experiences and needs of this population. The best way to prevent suicide in college-aged individuals is to use a comprehensive approach that promotes social networks and connectedness, improves access to mental health services on and off campus, identifies and assists students who may be at risk for suicide, and is prepared to respond when a suicide death occurs.

PARTNERS IN PREVENTION

POSTVENTION GUIDE FOR RESPONSES TO SUICIDE ON COLLEGE CAMPUSES

Developed by The Higher Education Mental Health Alliance (HEMHA). This guide covers the actions to take following a suicide, how to develop and implement a sensitive response plan, and steps to limit the risk of future suicides.

APPLIED SUICIDE INTERVENTION SKILLS TRAINING (ASIST TRAINING)

LivingWorks ASIST is a two-day in-person workshop featuring powerful audiovisuals, discussions, and simulations. At a LivingWorks ASIST workshop, you'll learn how to recognize when someone may be thinking about suicide, and how to provide a skilled intervention and develop a safety plan with the person to connect them to further support.

988 ON UNIVERSITY IDS

During the 2024 Legislative session SB2408 was passed into law requiring all on-campus faculty, staff and students attending any state institution to be issued an identification badge which includes 988 crisis lifeline contact information.
